2. The value of the Fund may be more susceptible to adverse economic, political, policy, foreign exchange, liquidity, tax, legal or regulatory events affecting Hong Kong and China markets.
3. The Fund may invest in derivatives. The use of derivatives exposes the Fund to additional risks, including volatility risk, liquidity risk and counterparty/credit risk and credit risk regarding access product issuer.

Investment decisions should not be made solely on the basis of this promotional material. ### Investment Objective and Strategy

The investment objective of the Fund is to provide long-term capital appreciation by primarily investing in listed equities with a China focus. There can be no assurance that the Fund will achieve its investment objective.

The Fund seeks to achieve its objective primarily through exposure to companies established in China or those which, whilst established outside China, derive a significant proportion of their revenue or profits from business related to China. The Fund makes investments into companies that, in the Manager's opinion, have been undervalued by the market. There is no restriction on market capitalizations or industries in relation to the equity securities in which the Fund may invest.

Under normal circumstances, the asset allocation strategy is that at least 70% of the Fund's Net Asset Value will be invested in stocks of companies established in China or those which, whilst established outside China, derive a significant proportion of their revenue or profits from business related to China (including but not limited to investment in depositary receipts such as American Depositary Receipts), and, subject to an overall upper limit on onshore PRC exposure of 20% of the Fund's Net Asset Value, up to 20% of the Fund's Net Asset Value will be invested directly or indirectly in stocks listed in Shanghai (including stocks listed on the Sci-Tech Innovation Board (the "STAR Board")) and/or Shenzhen (including stocks in the ChiNext market and/or stocks listed on the Small and Medium Enterprise Board (the "SME Board")).

Fund Manager's Comment

January was a month of two halves for HK/China markets: initial euphoria on the back of the US-China phase 1 trade deal in the first half, followed by growing fear as the new coronavirus drama unfolded in the second half. Hong Kong protests, Brexit, Trump impeachment, and Middle East tensions all took a back seat to coronavirus updates. Cyclical, which had earlier outperformed on expectations of a re-acceleration in global growth, corrected sharply as the short-term outlook dimmed. While the situation is grave and unknowns remain, the economic hit is expected to be short-lived. Greater fiscal stimulus is a given in China, and rate expectations in the US are also in the midst of adjusting.

Looking beyond this difficult time, we see that secular trends that were already in play have been reinforced. E-commerce expanding from goods to services, healthcare-related research and investment, technological upgrading and supply chain re-organization must continue. While overall exposure has been reduced during the month, we have taken the opportunity to add to names that stand to benefit from these unchanged secular trends.
